Payment and booking confirmation

Full payment is required on registration through the official payment link supplied by the organiser. The total price, inclusions, exclusions and these terms must be provided and accepted before payment. A booking is confirmed only once payment has cleared and the organiser has issued written confirmation. If the organiser cannot confirm the booking, the payment will be refunded.

Firm bookings, cancellations and changes

Bookings are firm after payment. No discretionary cancellation or refund is offered for a change of mind. This policy is subject to all cancellation and refund rights required by South African law.

Where cancellation is permitted by law, a reasonable cancellation charge may apply, potentially up to 100% of the booking amount where justified. The charge will consider the notice given, the nature of the booking, reasonable supplier commitments, the prospect of a replacement booking, usual industry practice, and costs recovered or avoided. Full forfeiture is not automatic. Any balance due will be refunded with an explanation of deductions.

No cancellation charge will be imposed where prohibited by law, including where the booking cannot be honoured because of the death or hospitalisation of the person for whose benefit it was made. Any applicable statutory cooling-off rights are preserved.

Send cancellation or change requests to the organisers at info@madeiradiasporasa.co.za in writing and retain acknowledgement. A substitute participant requires written approval and supplier acceptance; only reasonable, disclosed transfer costs may be charged. No-shows and early departures are assessed under the same lawful cancellation principles.

If the organiser cancels or materially changes the tour, participants will be notified promptly and offered the remedies required by law, including any applicable refund. A credit or rescheduled date will not replace a legally required refund without agreement.

Fuel, tolls, personal purchases and meals or activities not expressly included in the confirmed package are for participants' own account.
